

Edward G. Johnson

Charles H. Lundquist College of Business
University of Oregon, Eugene, OR edjohnson123@gmail.com

EDUCATION

Ph.D. Economics, Stanford University, 2004
M.S. Public Policy Analysis, University of Rochester, 1995
B.S. Electrical Engineering, Brigham Young University, 1990

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Pro Tem Instructor of Finance, Lundquist School of Business, University of Oregon, 2015-present. Taught Economics and Finance to undergraduates and MBAs.

Adjunct Instructor of Decision Science, Lundquist School of Business, University of Oregon, 2013. Taught undergraduate and Ph.D. courses in statistics.

Lecturer, Haas School of Business, University of California, Berkeley, Spring 2009. Taught class in statistical methods for Accounting Ph.D. students.

Visiting Scholar, Haas School of Business, University of California, Berkeley, 2006-2008

Research Economist, Bureau of Labor Statistics, Washington, DC, June 2004-May 2006. Provided research and analysis on issues related to employee benefits and total hourly compensation from the National Compensation Survey, and conducted independent economics research.

Freelance Consultant, March 2001 - December 2001. Worked mainly with AES Consulting (San Francisco) on antitrust regulation issues.

Statistical Analyst, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Washington DC, summer 1994. Compiled and analyzed large datasets on ownership of Indian land allotments.

System Design Engineer, Amdahl Corp., Sunnyvale, CA, 1990-1993. Designed computer hardware for mainframe computer systems.

RESEARCH

Publications

"Dual Transfer Pricing with Internal and External Trade", (with Nicole Johnson and Thomas Pfeiffer), Review of Accounting Studies, March 2016, Volume 21, Issue 1, pp 140-164

Working Papers

"Round Numbers and Security Returns" (with Nicole Johnson and Devin Shanthikumar)

"Identification in Discrete Choice Models with Fixed Effects"

"Ordered Logit with Fixed Effects"

Ph.D. Dissertation:

"Panel Data Models with Discrete Dependent Variables." Principal Advisor: Thomas MaCurdy. Other Advisors: Edward Vytlačil, Jay Bhattacharya, Aprajit Mahajan.

PRESENTATIONS

2008 Brigham Young University Accounting Symposium

2004 Midwest Econometrics Group, Northwestern University

2004 University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

OTHER TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Lecturer: Johns Hopkins University, Applied Economics Program, Spring, 2005.
Taught "Introduction to Statistics" for graduate students.

Teaching Assistant: Department of Economics, Stanford University. Classes:
Introduction to Statistics (2003), Health Economics (2002), Public Policy (2000),
Graduate Econometrics (2000, 1998), Graduate Game Theory (1999)

HONORS AND AWARDS

Stanford Institute for Economic Policy Research Fellowship, 1999-2000.

National Science Foundation Fellowship, 1995-1998.

OTHER

Computer skills: Stata, SAS, UNIX, Perl, SPSS

Citizenship: USA